WELCOME TO OUR 2025 CATALOGUE

In 2024, we celebrated our Golden Anniversary – 50 years since Hilary and George Bradt wrote the first guide to the Inca Trail, launching the most pioneering guidebook publisher on the planet. But we’re not resting on our laurels.

Our 51st year sees another huge milestone: publication of the centenary edition of the South American Handbook, the travellers’ bible that renowned novelist Graham Greene called “the best guidebook in the world”. And we’ll also be releasing a special anthology of South American travel tales by some of the great travel writers, past and present.

Away from South America, our programme for 2025 includes new country guides to the Democratic Republic of the Congo and Mauritania. We’re particularly proud to bring a guide to Vietnam back to the Bradt stable, 30 years after we published the first-ever guide to the country; written by a Hanoi resident, this is the most comprehensive on the market.

We continue to expand our list of European regional titles with guides to Northern Spain and Languedoc-Roussillon in France. Closer to home (for us, at least!), we’ve a new guide to Scotland’s North Highlands in our ‘Slow Travel’ series, as well as Muslim Britain, a unique travel guide to sites of Islamic heritage and culture.

We hope you agree it’s an innovative, exciting list that maintains Bradt’s reputation for taking travel seriously, and for providing not only information but inspiration to our readers.

Happy travels!

Adrian Phillips, Managing Director

THE BRADT STORY

It all began in 1974 on an Amazon river barge. During an 18-month trip through South America, two adventurous young backpackers – Hilary Bradt and her then husband, George – decided to write about the hiking trails they had discovered through the Andes. Backpacking Along Ancient Ways in Peru and Bolivia included the very first descriptions of the Inca Trail. It was the start of a colourful journey to becoming one of the best-loved travel publishers in the world; you can read the full story on our website: bradtguides.com/ourstory.

Hilary quickly gained a reputation for being a true travel pioneer, and in the 1980s she started to focus on guides to places overlooked by other publishers. The Bradt Guides list became a roll call of guidebook ‘firsts’. We published the first guide to Madagascar, followed by Mauritius, Czechoslovakia and Vietnam. The 1990s saw the beginning of our extensive coverage of Africa: Tanzania, Uganda, South Africa and Eritrea. Later, post-conflict guides became a feature: Rwanda, Mozambique, Angola, Sierra Leone, Bosnia and Kosovo.

Today, we are the world’s largest independently owned guidebook publisher with more than 200 titles in print. However, our ethos remains unchanged. Hilary is still keenly involved, and we still get there first: 70% of Bradt country, regional and city guides have no direct competition. But we don’t just get there first. Our guides are also known for being more comprehensive than any other series. We avoid templates and tick-lists. Each guide is a one-of-a-kind expression of an expert author’s interests, knowledge and enthusiasm for telling it how it really is. And a commitment to wildlife, conservation and respect for local communities has always been at the heart of our books. Bradt Guides was championing sustainable travel before any other guidebook publisher.

From her first solo trip aged three, she revisits six decades of hitchhiking, feeding the travel habit by working abroad and starting a successful travel publishing company where knowing nothing proved a surprising asset.

FOCUS ON SOUTH AMERICA

Bradt's story began in the Amazon – and 2025 promises to be a big year for our South America connections.

We're publishing a centenary edition of the legendary South American Handbook, a thrilling new collection of some great South America travel writing and new editions of our guides to Colombia, Paraguay and Pantanal Wildlife.

And keep an eye out for our South America Festival, a one-day event coming to London in autumn 2025.

To stay in touch with all this and other Bradt news, keep an eye on our website and follow us on social media.
